

BACCALAUREATE

Today is Baccalaureate Sunday. It is a day on which we, as a church family, celebrate and honor those in our congregation graduating from high school. As parents and church family, we do our best to nurture, educate, protect, and love our children. We care for them for eighteen years, sometimes more, and release them into the world hoping that they have learned something from us. The years after high school are equal parts exciting and terrifying for everyone involved, but now it's time for these seniors to go out and take all the things that they have learned and make our world a better place. Here is a list of the class of 2017.
